Title: I/O Psychology Intern

Location of Performance:

AMTIS Inc.
12124 High Tech Ave., Ste. 150
Orlando, FL 32817

Description:

The Industrial/ Organizational Psychology Internship Program at AMTIS Inc. is designed to provide candidates with experience in an applied setting while also aiding the organization.

The internship program typically consists of a 1 year commitment ranging from 10 to 15 hours per week. Depending on the nature of the assignment, this time may be distributed in a variety of ways across the organization, research facilities, field settings, individual work etc.

Primary responsibilities for candidates in the Industrial/ Organizational Psychology Internship Program may include, but are not limited to:

- Process and analyze data, often using statistical methods and other applications to evaluate outcomes of customer satisfaction and effectiveness of workplace programs.
- Prepare and present analyzed data in both written and oral forms to client during monthly meetings. Includes conveying both direct statistics and implications of collected data.
- Use statistical methods, conducting on-going maintenance and validation efforts on currently used certification exams.
- Aid organizational development through a variety of HR functions.

Depending on the educational institution's requirements, candidates may qualify to earn practicum credit contingent upon submitting tangible evidence of practicum performance (i.e., work product, activity log, final report, etc.), along with an on-site supervisory rating. Each internship experience at AMTIS is unique and based upon availability of contract work.
